Only Israel accepts invite

Sadat continues plans for pre-Geneva talks

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — President Anwar Sadat is pressing ahead with his plans for a preliminary Arab-Israeli conference in Cairo although so far only Israel has said it would attend.

Syria, Israel's other military adversary, joined Libya and Algeria in lining up a rival meeting of Sadat's Arab opponents. The Egyptian president said he would negotiate "with the Israelis alone" if other Arab nations refused to come to Cairo.

Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin accepted Sadat's invitation before receiving the formal bid. But he warned that no Israeli delegation would negotiate with the Palestine Liberation Organization "whether it is in Geneva or Cairo or the moon."

Begin was to make a major policy speech today in the Israeli parliament reviewing developments since Sadat's groundbreaking trip to Israel last weekend. He was not expected to shift from his rejection of the two key Arab demands: a Palestinian state on the West Bank of the Jordan River and the return of all territory Israel occupied during the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

In a speech to the Egyptian parliament Saturday, Sadat invited Israel, the United States, the Soviet Union, Syria, Lebanon and Jordan to prepare for Geneva at roundtable discussions in Cairo next week. Egyptian Foreign Minister Butros B. Ghali sent out the invitations on Sunday.

Sadat said the Cairo meeting could start as early as Saturday, but other officials said it might be delayed a week beyond that.

Sadat made no reference to the PLO in his speech, but his foreign minister said an invitation would be sent to the organization as representative of the Palestinian peoples.

Syria and the PLO rejected the invitation. The PLO threatened to execute any Arab from the occupied West Bank who attended.

Jordan and Lebanon were silent. But since Lebanon is occupied by Syrian troops, the Lebanese government was expected to follow Syria's lead.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell said the U.S. government was still consulting with other parties to the Geneva conference before deciding whether to attend the meeting.

There was no comment from the Soviet government, but Syrian Foreign Minister Abdul Khalim Khaddam was going to Moscow today to ask the Russians to reject Sadat's invitation.

Syria said Sadat's proposal was a ploy to justify Israeli visits to Cairo and a betrayal of the Arab world. Khaddam said Syria would attend the "rejectionist summit" Libya and Algeria are holding in Tripoli Thursday "to create a strong anti-Sadat front."

Two other leftist Arab governments — Iraq and South Yemen — also are expected to attend.

'You've achieved enormous success'

Hayes lauds MT program

By MARK REA
Record-Herald Sports Editor
"There's no short way to success. Any good big organization starts out as a good small organization. It's the same way in football — you have to prepare to win. And once you've built a winning program, it's just that much harder to stay on top."

Those were the words of Wayne Woodrow (Woody) Hayes, head football coach at Ohio State University and guest speaker at Sunday's Miami Trace football banquet.

"I was only here for one half of the last football game and just one practice but what impressed me most was the way they go at their work matter-of-factly," Hayes told the audience. "I was also impressed with the enthusiasm of your team. One thing that really makes a team go is enthusiasm."

Switching subjects, Hayes found himself talking about probably his most prized recruit in recent years — Miami Trace quarterback Art Schlichter. "A lot of quarterbacks take too much time getting the ball from the center and then running back to set up. I don't think there is anyone faster at getting out and setting up than your quarterback."

"I came to the last game of the season expecting to see an aerial circus. A woman who was sitting behind me in the stands was complaining that your team didn't pass enough. And, you know, I kind of agreed with her," Hayes joked.

The sometimes volatile coach quickly turned to Record-Herald photographer Tim Carson, who was taking pictures. "Young man, if you will finish taking pictures and return to your seat, we can get on with the program. As you probably know, photographers worry me," Hayes told Carson, referring to his recent altercation with an ABC cameraman at the Michigan game in Ann Arbor.

Returning to his address, Hayes outlined his thoughts on how sports and education dictate a person's lifestyle. "It's amazing what you can learn in sports," he said. "The snap decisions that are made on the football team will help you all your life. The person who is successful is the one who is able to make the snap decisions."

"A winning program can affect the people around and, in this case, it can affect the school. Your 10-0 season does not only make your team proud but the entire school and community as well. You have achieved enormous respect because nobody gave you those 10 wins."

Woody Hayes at the microphone

You had to earn them. And I believe everyone respects a person who earns what he has," Coach Hayes said.

"The one thing we always look for is respect," he continued. "Respect for parents and respect for teachers and coaches. You know, a teacher may get too lazy to grade a student's paper, but the student never gets too lazy to grade the teacher."

"If you ask any student who their favorite teacher is, they can come up with an immediate answer. I am a firm believer in the fact that a team fires the coach. If you lose their respect, they quit playing for you and then you're in trouble."

Looking ahead to the Jan. 2 Sugar Bowl with Alabama, Hayes commented, "I'll have my four senior captains in to go over everything they might throw at us. I respect their views and they respect mine. I believe in young people — I've learned all my football from my players."

"Three young people that I believed in have gone to become three of the best professional athletes around — there just aren't any better. First, there was Jack Nicklaus, the best in the game of golf. If you don't believe he is a genius, look at the course in Muirfield Village

Including Ohio State's Woody Hayes

Over 500 persons brave snowy weather to applaud Panthers

By PHIL LEWIS
Record-Herald City Editor
Over 500 persons, including Ohio State University football coach Woody Hayes, braved snowy weather Sunday night to honor the Miami Trace High School football team at a season-ending banquet in the Mahan Building.

Despite the presence of Hayes, the second winningest active college coach behind Alabama's Bear Bryant, the evening was dedicated to the 50 members of the undefeated Panther football squad.

"This is their night," Zechman told the overflow crowd. "Each week they tried as hard as they could to be perfect."

And perfect they were as far as records go.

The Panthers completed their third straight undefeated season under Zechman earlier this month and were ranked second in the state by a select panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

"Each year, the team sets goals and we posted the list on the bulletin board," the nominee for All-Ohio Coach of the Year said. "This year 95 per cent of the goals were reached."

Zechman also mentioned a goal that was made three years ago and attained this year.

"Three years ago our (present) seniors got together and decided to go undefeated for the next three years," he said adding that that goal was realized.

Time and time again the Panthers steamrolled over their opponents. Zechman's squad led the state in scoring with 606 points this past season while allowing only 69 points to the opposition.

For their accomplishments, the 1977 Panthers have been immortalized in song—the "Panther Boogie."

Dawn Schlichter, sister of All-Ohio quarterback Art Schlichter, wrote the words to the song and sang the composition accompanied by John Schlichter, Doug Joseph and Mrs. Cinda Stinson, all members of the singing group Act Four.

Hayes, the guest speaker for the evening, also lauded the teams' accomplishments and directed some well-earned praise to Zechman.

"If anybody has spoiled a community, Fred (Zechman) has," Hayes said of the coach who has posted a 43-6-1 record since coming to Miami Trace five years ago. "A lot of people would like to have him and like to have the football program you have."

The community obviously appreciates the coach, who upon introduction received the longest of many standing ovations during the evening.

From field of 15 finalists

Yule parade royalty selected

The three girls who will reign over Saturday afternoon's annual Christmas parade in Washington C.H. were selected Sunday night.

Queen selection committee chairman A.D. (Pete) Whiting said Kim Bryant will reign as the Snow Queen; Sheila Terry will serve as the Miss Snow Princess, and Kem Baker will hold the Little Miss Snow Princess title.

The three winners were selected by a panel of judges from the Washington C.H. Lions and Lioness clubs from a field of 15 finalists in the Washington C.H. Middle School cafeteria. The finalists were judged on their poise, character and personality.

"The voting was extremely close and we had a good turnout, considering the weather," said Whiting of the one-hour judging process.

Miss Bryant, a sophomore at Miami Trace High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Bryant, 3407 Ohio 41-S.

The runnerup in the Snow Queen judging was Linda Merritt, a senior at Miami Trace High School. Other finalists were Susan Moore, Vicki Bennett, and Shelby Tucker.

Miss Terry, this year's Miss Snow Princess, is an eighth grader at Eber Junior High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Terry, 3517 Culpepper Trace Road.

The runnerup in the Miss Snow Princess division was Kelly Dawn Coe, a sixth grader at Wilson Elementary School. Other finalists were Michelle Brickles, Crystal Lewis and Cindy Thompson.

The new Little Miss Snow Princess, Kem Baker, is a kindergarten student at Eastside Elementary School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Thomas D. Baker, 812 Duke Plaza.

Angie Hall, a second grader at Eastside Elementary School, was the runnerup in the Little Miss Snow Princess judging. Other finalists were Valerie Brown, Nicole Lee Daily and Shannon Blevins.

The three winners will ride atop the "Christmas Royalty" float in Saturday's parade sponsored by the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce.

Each of the 15 finalists (five in each of the three divisions) received a Fayette commemorative coin. The winners will each receive a silver tiara.

Whiting said more than 50 entries were received for the Snow Queen, Miss Snow Princess and Little Miss Snow Princess crowns this year.

MT classes delayed temporarily

First big snow disappearing

A patchy white blanket of snow was expected to disappear today as temperatures edged near the 40-degree mark in Fayette County putting an end to the winter's first measurable snow fall.

About two inches of powdery snow fell during the weekend delaying the opening of schools Monday and making driving tricky for county motorists and Thanksgiving holiday travelers.

The Miami Trace School District, which was closed 19 days last winter due to snow, delayed the opening of classes Monday.

"We delayed the opening for one hour with the idea of waiting until daylight due to slippery secondary roads," Superintendent Guy Foster said Monday morning referring to possible hazards to the district's extensive bus system.

Foster reported that no major problems were encountered and only one bus was delayed longer than one hour. That bus had a flat tire, which could not be attributed to the snow.

One county school district teacher was unable to attend classes Monday after being stranded in Michigan due to the snow storm that extended throughout the Midwest.

The Washington C.H. School District, which opened on schedule Monday morning, also experienced no major problems, according to Superintendent Edwin Nestor.

A number of traffic mishaps which could be attributed to slick roads were reported by area law enforcement agencies. There were no serious injuries. However, two mishaps on slick Interstate 71 in northwestern Fayette County resulted in two minor injuries.

At 1:30 p.m. Sunday, an Akron man pulled his car to the berm of the road to clean his windshield, when his vehicle struck a Cleveland man's car which had already been pulled to the berm. The Akron motorist claimed injury but did not seek immediate treatment.

Two hours later as snow continued to flutter down, a vehicle driven by a Milford man fishtailed in the northbound lane of I-71 and struck another car. The man was slightly injured but did not require immediate treatment.

State highway department road crews were dispatched in the county at 12 noon Sunday to fight the hazardous, snow-covered highways.

Treon Ellis, superintendent of the state highway department, reported nine crews worked until midnight and then two crews stayed on throughout the night to check on bridges. Ellis said most of the state roads were covered by snow, but none were impassable.

Fayette County Engineer Donald Conley dispatched nine snow plows at 5:30 a.m. Monday and most of the plows completed their designated

Travelers advisory lifted

Motoring treacherous after first big snow

By The Associated Press

Ohio's first major statewide snowstorm of the season sent motorists sliding into ditches and each other Sunday as they tried to return from Thanksgiving holiday trips.

At least two traffic fatalities were blamed on icy road conditions caused by snow and freezing rain that blanketed the state. The entire state was under a travelers advisory most of Sunday, but the National Weather Service lifted the advisory in the southwestern half late Sunday night.

"I've got enough accident reports here to start another post," said a spokesman at the Highway Patrol's post in Gallipolis.

In Cincinnati, where 4 inches of snow fell by early evening, traffic accidents were so numerous police told drivers involved in minor fender-benders to exchange notes and notify authorities later.

A Loveland, Ohio, minister was killed when a car lost control on a slick hill during a snowstorm and hit his automobile head-on, police said. The victim was identified as the Rev. Russell B. Foote, 45, who was returning home from his Sunday service.

The Highway Patrol said Roger L. Nibert, 17, of Gallipolis, was killed when his auto slipped across the centerline on snow-covered Ohio 588 in Gallia County and hit another vehicle head-on.

In all, the patrol said 23 persons were killed on Ohio's roadways during the 102-hour holiday period, which began Wednesday at 6 p.m. and ended at midnight Sunday.

The weather service said the Akron-Canton area also reported snow depths of 4 inches Sunday night, while 3 inches were measured in Toledo and 2 inches in Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton, Youngstown and Zanesville. Snow and freezing rain was still falling in some areas.

Heavy snow storms caused vehicles to stall on Cleveland's lakefront shoreway Sunday afternoon, interfering with the operation of salt trucks. Police were asking motorists to stay off the shoreway.

The inclement weather made trips take longer than normal, sometimes adding hours, motorists said. For instance, the drive from Toledo to Columbus, which normally takes about two hours, was extended to 4½ hours for one family due to the poor traveling conditions.

Some motorists were choosing to spend the night in motels and continue their journeys today, when better conditions were predicted. The low pressure that brought the snow to Ohio was expected to continue eastward into New England this afternoon.

Partly cloudy skies were expected over southwestern Ohio today, with slightly moderating temperatures.

Sen. McClellan dead at 81

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, the Southern conservative who became a national figure through his investigations into labor unions and organized crime, died today in his sleep. He was 81.

McClellan's aides said the senator's body was found by his wife about 6:30 a.m. at their Little Rock apartment.

The Arkansas Democrat, who had served in the Senate for 35 years and ranked second in seniority, had announced last week that he would not seek another term when his sixth term ended Jan. 3, 1979.

The senator would have been two months from his 83rd birthday when his Senate term ended. He had been in public office for half a century.

McClellan had a pacemaker implanted to regulate his heartbeat last summer. Last Monday when he announced his decision to retire, McClellan said his health was not a factor in his plans. He said it would have been a major concern had he chosen to seek re-election.

As head of the Senate Appropriations Committee, McClellan oversaw billions in federal spending. The defense budget usually fared well under him. McClellan's law-and-order reputation grew in the 1950s when he took over the Senate permanent Investigations subcommittee on the death of Sen. Joseph McCarthy.

McClellan was second in seniority in the Senate to James O. Eastland, D-Miss. Both men were sworn in the same day, but a Senate rule gives higher seniority to the senator from a state in the union longer. Mississippi became a state before Arkansas.

McClellan was known during his long career in the Senate as a law-and-order man and as a relentless investigator of wrongdoing in and out of government.

McClellan was first elected to the Senate in 1942 after two terms in the House. He was chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee since August 1972.

The time-consuming responsibilities of that post forced him to give up the helm of the Senate's permanent investigations subcommittee, which he had chaired for a record 18 years, from January 1955 to January 1973.

In that span he directed headline-making investigations into labor rackeering, organized crime, securities thefts, the TFX aircraft contract, illicit operations in military service clubs overseas, the rash of riots that erupted in big cities and on college campuses in the late 1960s, and in many other areas.

He took over the chairmanship of the subcommittee from the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., after the Republicans lost control of the Senate. He had led a Democratic walkout in protest against what he called McCarthy's one-man rule of the panel, staying out for nearly six months until he won concessions.

McClellan hired Robert F. Kennedy as the subcommittee's counsel. Kennedy later was to become attorney general when his brother John became president.

John Kennedy was then a senator and a member of the subcommittee and took part in its probe of the Teamsters Union.

While McClellan's office credits him with conducting more investigations than any senator in history, he also was active on many other fronts.

Stock market shows mixture

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices were mixed in active trading today as the market absorbed the news of another big U.S. trade deficit.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was unchanged at 844.42 in the first half hour.

Gainers outpaced losers by about a 3-2 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The Commerce Department reported this morning that the nation had a record trade deficit in October. The seasonally adjusted figures showed imports exceeding exports by $3.1 billion.

But officials pointed out that the gap was exaggerated by the dock strike that began Oct. 1.

New York State Electric & Gas led the active list, up 1/4 at 19 1/4. A 137,800-share block traded at that price.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average rose 1.12 to 844.42, extending its gain for the week to 8.66 points.

Advances outnumbered declines by about a 5-3 margin on the NYSE.

In the post-holiday session Big Board volume slowed to a 3 1/2-week low of 17.91 million shares from 29.15 million in the previous trading day on Wednesday.

The NYSE's composite index was up .14 at 53.33.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index jumped 1.58 to 123.42.

Over energy program difficulty

Delay threatened in approval of new Social Security bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional difficulty in approving a national energy program is threatening to delay final consideration of a Social Security bill until next year.

Such a delay could mean there will be no increases in Social Security taxes, beyond those already enacted, until 1979. That position is favored by the Senate, while the House prefers raising taxes further on middle- and upper-income workers starting Jan. 1.

President Carter and the Democratic leadership of Congress list energy as the top-priority issue for the remainder of the year, although they are urging final action on Social Security as well.

Action on both may not be possible because the Senate and House members most responsible for Social Security legislation are the same ones who are negotiating a compromise on the tax portions of the energy program. And it appears likely that energy will keep the lawmakers busy until close to Christmas.

After a week's recess, the energy negotiators were to return to work today, still facing the most crucial — and most controversial — energy issues.

Those issues are natural gas pricing and taxing of U.S.-produced crude oil.

"Second, there was Mr. Basketball — John Havlicek. He was the most delightful young man I have ever had the pleasure of recruiting. He never played football but he was one of the brightest youngsters there was."

"And then of course, there's Arch (Griffin). A couple of weeks ago when all the fuss was being made about how he wanted traded, you didn't hear a peep out of Arch. He doesn't need any sports writers to fight his battles. Believe me, he can take care of himself."

"I don't believe anyone can match those three superstars," boasted Hayes, "and that's why I call Columbus, Ohio the greatest amateur sports city in the country. Those three young people that have grown into men are what it's all about."

"In each case, there was great impact and impetus from the home. And in each case, there was great desire to achieve perfection. Nobody gave it to them — they worked hard for it," the OSU coach stated.

"And that's what I see here. Nobody gave you perfection, but you went out and worked hard for it. That's what makes it so much better when it's achieved. Knowing that you are the best — not because somebody made you that way — but because you wanted it that way."

routes by 9 a.m. "We had most of the plows mounted and ready to go," Conley reported adding that sheets of ice under the snow and a lack of salt was the only problem his work crews faced.

"We've got salt ordered, but supplies are dwindling," Conley said noting the price of salt had increased by one-third over last year.

Washington C.H. City Street Department workers spread nearly 20 tons of salt Sunday and Monday, according to street superintendent William Duncan, who dispatched a three-man crew at 10 a.m. Sunday.

Duncan reported that the city had plenty of salt, but he hoped his department would never have to use it again this year.

Chisholm married

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., has become Shirley Hardwick in her second marriage. But she says she will still call herself Rep. Chisholm.

On Saturday, at a suburban hotel, the 52-year-old congresswoman married Arthur Hardwick Jr., 61, a former state assemblyman who runs a liquor store here.

The latter would drive up the price of gasoline by about 7 cents a gallon.

Energy is not the only subject of controversy on Capitol Hill this week. Negotiators still are looking for a

Carter making pitch for energy proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is putting together a year-end pitch to Congress to salvage as much of his energy program as possible.

Aides say the president has set aside time for meetings with senators and congressmen as they return from Thanksgiving vacation in an effort to persuade them to approve the kind of energy program he wants.

Meanwhile, Carter planned to meet today with Army Secretary Clifford Alexander and representatives of the Army Corps of Engineers to determine what can be done to improve dam inspections.

After a privately-owned dam collapsed in Georgia earlier this month, killing 39 persons, Carter said he would step up federal inspection of non-federal dams.

Minimal problems seen from strike

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Dayton Power & Light Co. officials predict minimal problems in the DP&L service area from the looming strike by the nation's coal miners.

Donald L. Speyer, manager of corporate relations, said the utility which serves several Dayton-area counties has a 90-day supply stockpiled.

"Even during the strike, we expect to be getting some deliveries," said Speyer.

"We get supplies from some non-union mines, but that might be affected by transportation. Some of the non-union mines are served by union transportation," he said. Speyer said he could not estimate how much coal would be available to DP&L after the predicted walkout by United Mine Workers Dec. 6.

The utility uses about 18,000 tons of coal per day at three generating stations.

'Barney Miller' is hospitalized

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — Hal Linden, known to television fans as Barney Miller, has checked himself into a hospital suffering from viral bronchitis and exhaustion.

Linden was in the Catskills with his family for a nightclub stint at the Concorde Hotel. His agent, Jerry Levy, said Linden will likely spend "a couple of days" in Community General Hospital. He entered the hospital Sunday.

Linden had been scheduled to fly to California Sunday to resume filming of the television series today, Levy said.

Arena damaged

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Windows were smashed and doors were damaged at a Dayton arena Friday night when about 200 ticketholders to a rock concert learned the arena was already filled to capacity.

The angered concert-goers' protest was quelled by 30 Montgomery County deputies who arrested 10 persons on misdemeanor charges.

compromise on government-funded abortions that would allow final passage of a $60.2 billion money bill for the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare.

The president also is meeting this week with Joseph A. Califano, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, and James McIntyre, acting director of the Office of Management and Budget, to talk about reorganizing HEW's education effort.

Carter promised during the presidential campaign to create a separate Department of Education.

But Claudia Townsend, an associate White House press secretary, said there was "lots of room" in the president's schedule to arrange meetings with members of Congress trying to resolve House and Senate differences over energy legislation.

"It's not such a crowded schedule that he couldn't get those things in," Ms. Townsend said.

House and Senate conference committees are negotiating tax and price portions of the energy program. And it appears likely that energy will keep the lawmakers busy until close to Christmas.

The most controversial issues they face are the pricing of natural gas and a tax on U.S.-produced crude oil, which would drive up the price of gasoline by about 7 cents a gallon.

Carter wants the conferees to retain a House-passed ceiling on natural gas prices as well as the crude oil tax, approved by the House as an incentive to conserve.

The Senate has rejected the crude oil tax and voted to lift controls on natural gas prices after two years.

During the president's own Thanksgiving holiday at Camp David, his vacation White House in the Catskill Mountains of western Maryland, his press secretary, Jody Powell, renewed Carter's threat to veto energy legislation that isn't tough enough.

"Anyone who believes the president will sign a bad bill is seriously mistaken," Powell said. "No bill may be better than a bad bill."

He said Carter still intends to leave after Christmas on a foreign trip and will look for signs this week that Congress will complete an acceptable energy program by then.

Carter originally had planned to leave Nov. 22 on an 11-day, nine-country journey to South America, Africa, Asia and Europe, but he called off the trip to push his energy proposals.

Officers probe overdose case

A 44-year-old local woman was taken to Fayette County Memorial Hospital early Saturday after becoming ill from an overdose of tranquilizers.

The woman was treated in the emergency room and released later. According to a Washington C.H. Police Department report, the woman told investigators she had been drinking since 7 Friday night. After an unsuccessful attempt to contact her boyfriend, she stated she swallowed a handful of prescription nerve pills.

The incident occurred about 2 a.m. at her home.

Furnace blamed in home blaze

A floor furnace was apparently the cause of a fire Sunday at a Campbell Street residence.

The blaze resulted in an estimated $400 damage, according to Washington C.H. Fire Department officials.

John Warfield of 721 Campbell St. summoned firefighters around 10:14 a.m. when a floor furnace in his home ignited a wood beam and the flooring surrounding it in flames.

Fourteen firefighters were on the scene in less than five minutes and managed to limit the damage to a part of the flooring and the central heating unit.

No injuries were reported.

Traffic Court

Four persons were convicted of driving while intoxicated during hearings Wednesday and Friday in Washington C.H. Municipal Court.

David J. Williams, 33, 1108 E. Paint St., was sentenced to 10 days in jail following his conviction with four days suspended on the condition he attends an alcoholic treatment program at Laurel Oaks Treatment Center near Wilmington.

Judge Gary C. Stout fined Williams $350 and costs and suspended his driver's license for six months.

Washington C.H. police officers cited Williams after a traffic accident he was involved in Sept. 2 in the 300 block of W. Court Street. At the time of the accident, the local man was also cited for failure to maintain an assured clear distance. However, the judge dismissed that charge at the request of the prosecuting witness and waived the court costs.

Also cited by local police officers, 19-year-old Robbie J. Garrison of Bloomingburg was found guilty of drunk driving and sentenced to 10 days in jail with 6 days of the sentence suspended providing he attends a Laurel Oaks treatment program.

He was fined $350 and court costs and received a 90-day suspension of his operator's license.

Garrison was arrested for drunk driving Nov. 5 after being stopped for driving left of center. He was cited for the left of center violation, but the charge was dismissed and the costs waived.

Friday, Alfred E. Belton Jr., 20, of Dayton, was found guilty of driving while intoxicated, sentenced to three days in jail and fined $350, plus costs.

The Municipal Court judge offered to suspend $50 of the fine providing it was paid in full Friday.

However, Judge Stout did suspend Belton's driving privileges for 60 days, authorizing him to drive to and from work upon proof of purchase of financial responsibility insurance, payment of his fine and costs in full and proof of employment.

He was cited early Friday morning by Ohio Highway Patrol officers.

Edwin J. Smith, 61, of Mount Sterling, received a three-day suspended jail sentence Wednesday on the condition he attends the Laurel Oaks Treatment Center.

In addition, he was fined $350 and costs with $50 suspended upon full payment of the fine and costs that day. His operator's license was also suspended for a 60-day period with permission to drive in the course of employment.

Smith was arrested on the drunk driving charge by Fayette County sheriff's deputies following an injury accident at a railroad crossing on Cook-Yankee Road Aug. 2.

The Municipal Court received several signed waivers for traffic citations during proceedings on Wednesday and Friday:

Other businesses and individuals contributing to the paper drive were Buckner Burbage, the Record-Herald, the Weekly Advertiser, Seaway, and WCHO radio.

Ohio pen escapee

Authorities identify suspect

CLEVELAND (AP)—The man accused of abducting school teacher Linda Sharpe and holding her for 12 days in Florida has been identified as an Ohio penitentiary escapee who was serving a sentence for rape and kidnapping.

The FBI and police said Sunday night the man, identified as Richard A. Wright, 29, is being investigated for possible links to disappearances of other young women in the Tampa, Fla., and North Olmsted, Ohio, areas.

Wright was arrested Friday in a struggle with Tarpon Springs, Fla., police who came to the rescue of the 29-year-old Miss Sharpe.

He gave his name as George Lewis of North Royalton, but the FBI said fingerprints revealed his true identity. Police records show that Wright, who once lived in North Olmsted and had worked for a North Royalton building firm, was convicted in 1972 for the rape and abduction of an 18-year-old North Olmsted woman.

Authorities said he had been serving a 5 to 30-year sentence in the Ohio Reformatory at Mansfield when he escaped March 3, 1976 after stabbing a supervisor with a screwdriver.

Police in Florida said disappearances of nine young women from the Tampa area were under investigation.

The FBI said it was investigating the disappearances of Yvonne Reglar, 17, of North Olmsted, who vanished Aug. 8 from a Fairview Park service station where she worked.

Police said the station's cash register was untouched, and Miss Reglar's purse had been left behind.

Tarpon Springs police reported when Wright's trailer home was searched Friday night they found a quantity of women's underwear that didn't belong to Miss Sharpe.

They also reported finding a note pad containing the names of 30 women from Tampa and from Ohio.

After Miss Sharpe was dragged out of her apartment in suburban Middleburg Heights Nov. 14, a search of the apartment revealed that all her underwear and that of her roommate had disappeared, police reported.

Wright was being held in the Pinellas County, Fla., jail pending an appearance today before U.S. magistrate.

Miss Sharpe returned to Ohio Saturday night and went into seclusion at her parents' home at Swanton.

A Cleveland school teacher, she said she was uncertain when she would go back to work.

Use This Method To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, TEXAS — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss... grow more hair.

Have you faced the fact that you have a hair loss problem?

Hair loss occurs so gradually that men and women often ignore it. Until it's too late. Even though you see yourself in a mirror every day, many of you won't admit to abnormal hair fall.

If you think, honestly, that you might be in this category, look at a picture taken a year ago—three years ago. Notice a difference? If so, now's the time to stop your hair loss. You could be going bald.

If it appears that you are already losing hair, whatever your daily hair routine is, if you continue to follow it, your hair will probably gradually thin away to nothing.

But it doesn't have to happen. Often hair fall is NOT normal.

Now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that not only stops hair loss, but actually grows hair! And you don't even have to take their word for it. You can try their treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself. Naturally they wouldn't offer this opportunity unless it worked. But it's impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness seems to "run in the family," it is certainly not proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

If you have thinning hair, the Loesch treatment may be the answer for you. If you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop hair loss and grow more hair, do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days—at their risk—if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially by mail. Adv.

Two songs in Houston

When disgruntled antifeminists staged a walkout in the closing minutes of the National Women's Conference, they stood at the back of the hall and sang "God Bless America". Whereupon the mainstream delegates countered with that theme song of the civil rights movement in the '60s, "We shall Overcome".

The thought this episode brings to mind is that there is nothing incompatible about those two beautiful and moving songs, though some of the women who sang them appeared to think so. Together, they eloquently express the spirit that pervaded the conference in its best and most characteristic moments:

the conviction that ours is a blessed and favored land, and that all who dwell in it must in justice be equal and free to realize their full potential as human beings.

"God Bless America" is essentially a hymn of praise and supplication, seeking divine support and guidance. We believe its sentiments are not foreign to the great majority of those who took part in the Houston meetings, women chosen as delegates by their peers at conventions in the several states.

As to "We Shall Overcome," it bespeaks a sense of universal human dignity and freedom that echoes revered American values. We are not afraid, it says; we are not alone, we'll walk hand in hand, black and white together - and then: "Oh, deep in my heart I do believe, the Lord will see us through some day... we shall all be free some day."

Is there some impassable gulf between "stand beside us and guide us" and "the Lord will see us through some day"? We think not. For all their political, moral and ideological differences, for all their divergent views about the paths to realization of the American dream, the women who sang those two songs are not so far apart, after all. They and their sister Americans, all of them, will benefit by the thrust of what was accomplished in Houston.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . By John P. Roche

The hidden agenda of Sadat-Begin

It's far too early to assess the overall impact of President Anwar Sadat's visit to Jerusalem, but one can suggest certain structural implications that got lost in the excitement. For one thing, the Sadat-Begin rendezvous was about as spontaneous as an eclipse of the sun. Undoubtedly there was tactical improvisation, giving Walter Cronkite a shot at the CBS Peace Prize. However, in strategic terms Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin was testing Sadat in August, and the latter had out his own feelers - Begin via the Rumanians; and Sadat, the Iranians.

Both Begin and Sadat are by temperament big rollers, but extremely careful about the dice. Both have lived for years in the knowledge there were contracts out on their lives. Thus the festivities in Jerusalem last weekend were based on hard calculations of cost-benefit and implicit agreement that Begin and Sadat would not be engaged in a zero-sum game: one winner, one loser. Ideally the result would be a joint victory over other parties.

Which other parties? The immediate candidate is the Palestinian Liberation Organization: Neither the Egyptians nor the Israelis (nor any other Arab state for that matter) want Yasir Arafat living on their block. The definitive evidence for this is the total lack of interest in a Palestinian state, homeland or entity during the 20 years (1947-67) the Egyptians and Jordanians occupied Gaza and the West Bank. Only when Israel occupied these areas did the clamor for a Palestinian state there begin.

Indeed, in 1958 when British paratroops rescued King Hussein of Jordan from the aggressions of his Palestinian majority, there wasn't even a demonstration at the United Nations, much less a burning of the Union Jack. The Palestinians who constitute the entrepreneurial elite throughout the Persian Gulf have no interest in leaving banking in Kuwait to grow oranges in Hebron. The PLO was largely a creation of the Soviet Union (Arafat commutes to the Middle East from Moscow) and has been shot up by Arabs everywhere it's tried to nest (Jordan, Syria, Lebanon), and only recently received a new lease on life from the Carter administration.

This brings us to the second item of agreement on the Sadat-Begin hidden agenda: getting those naive Americans, those frenetic cocker spaniels with their demand for universal love, off the backs of the serious players. It was ironic that when the news of the Sadat visit was confirmed, three disgruntled voices were heard: Radio Moscow in Arabic, the Israeli Communists and — the White House! After a day to recover, Mr. Carter began firing off benedictions, but still the suspicion remains that those two Levantines have ganged up to deny Jimmy his Geneva conference and his Nobel Peace Prize.

This disgruntlement goes in spades for the Soviet Union, which almost took out Sadat in an abortive coup in May 1971. Sadat promptly disposed of "Egypt's" secret police, who were actually KGB agents, but continued to be one of Moscow's most devoted and expensive allies. True, he kicked out the Soviet technicians in 1972, but later in his serialized memoirs boasted this was a ruse to fool everybody as he planned the Yom Kippur blitz. It is probable that dozens of former KGB Egyptian specialists are presently digging gold in labor camps for their bum calls.

Neither Sadat nor Begin then wants the Soviet Union to have the remotest connection with any Middle East settlement. Even as cunning a scoundrel as Sadat must figure Moscow has permanently dropped him from Brezhnev's Ramadan gift list. Like President Siad Barre in Somalia, Sadat has treated the Socialist Fatherland as a drunk to be rolled. Now he has made the big plunge and opened bilateral negotiations with Israel; as long as they continue, all "great power initiatives," notably Geneva, must be put on "hold." Similarly, any military attacks on Israel are out of the question without the Egyptian army.

Furthermore, on a different level of analysis, Begin and Sadat can each envisage negotiations as a weapon against the other. For Begin the calculation is that stonewalling can lead to the utter disintegration of Arab unity; a serious military confrontation between the lunatic Libyans and the Egyptians is a live possibility. Or, if the Saudis definitely excommunicated Sadat, Egypt's economy and planned military rehabilitation would be ravaged. Israel could occupy a box seat as the Arab world went into sanguinary convulsions.

But Sadat too has a strategic fall-back: Given his willingness to lay his head on the block and bilaterally negotiate with Begin, can the United States permit him to fail?

Abandoned youngsters may lose citizenship

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — About 4,000 children of American-Thai parents are in the process of losing their Thai citizenship through a decree designed to safeguard Thailand's national security.

The children were abandoned by their fathers or are simply the product of casual unions during the Indochinese war years when the United States kept upwards of 50,000 military personnel in Thailand.

takeover in 1975, and the Thai government is constantly tightening restrictions against them.

Loss of Thai nationality will deprive the children of the right to vote or participate in the Thai government when they grow up. Officials say they also may have trouble getting government jobs and could face travel restrictions.

Interior Ministry officials say a 1972 decree aimed at preventing children of Vietnamese refugees from obtaining Thai citizenship now is being applied to the "Amerasians," as they are known here.

The decree reflects Thai suspicion of the tens of thousands of Vietnamese who fled to Thailand in the 1950s after the French war in Vietnam.

Successive Thai governments have said some of the Vietnamese were Communist agents or at least easy targets for conversion to Communism.

Thailand has been flooded by Vietnamese refugees who escaped their homeland after the Communist

Robert M. Hearn, head of the Pearl S. Buck Foundation in Thailand, an international child relief agency, said the children might, through a complicated process, be eligible for U.S. citizenship. But Hearn said this "would be meaningless."

The children "live in Thai homes, with Thais. They're not going anywhere. Maybe one in a thousand would be interested in becoming an American," Hearn told The Associated Press in an interview.

The foundation sponsors 1,227 "Amerasian" children, taking care of their welfare and schooling, providing counseling services and other help through funds from American donors.

'Open house' is planned for wedding anniversary

Legislative aide Mrs. Janice Alderman, said the response had been good on the filing for help on utility bills.

Frank Sollars announced that some action should be taken by the next meeting time on Housing. An office will be set up by next month, he stated, and that materials are being gathered to start soon.

Homemade gift enhances Christmas

Nothing enhances the act of giving more than a gift you've made yourself. This fruit compote is easy to make. It combines a variety of canned and dried fruits with dark rum.

You can make enough for gifting, and keep some yourself. For gift giving, pack pint jars and add a note explaining that the fruit is best when served over poundcake, ice cream or crepes.

RUM REST
3 cups drained canned fruits (any combination of chopped peaches, mandarin oranges, pineapple chunks, apricot halves, chopped pears)

1 package (10 oz.) dried mixed fruits
1 cup halved maraschino cherries
1 cup blanched whole almonds
3 cups superfine sugar
2 cups dark rum

Layer the fruits, almonds and sugar in one and one-half quart crock. Gradually add rum (rum should cover fruit). Cover crock and let stand at least one week.

Makes about two quarts.

Pretty shower for Miss Morton

Visiting and contests were enjoyed by the guests, with the winners Mrs. Dorothy Morton and Mrs. Denzil Leggett presenting their prizes to the honor guest.

Miss Morton opened her many lovely gifts from a table with a blue and yellow color scheme. A dried wedding arrangement surrounded by Ann Story book Dolls, including the bride and bridesmaid, from the collection of the hostess, centered the table.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Invited guests were Mrs. Morton and Mrs. Robert Meriweather, mothers of the betrothed couple, Mrs. Charles Pyle, Mrs. John Stackhouse, Mrs. John Irvin, Mrs. Carl Meriweather, Mrs. Walter Welch, Mrs. Benny Jamison, Mrs. Alvin Dorn, Mrs. Carl Garrett, Mrs. Arthur Schlichter, Mrs. Leggett, Mrs. John Noble, Mrs. Kenneth Ford, Mrs. Paul Thompson, Mrs. Marlin Overly, and the Misses Jill Dorn, Debbie Welch, Terri Welch and Laura Lynn Irvin from Washington C.H.

First female firefighter vows not to resign post

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — Northern Kentucky's first professional female fire fighter says she would sleep in the same dormitory with the men if she has to but that would only demonstrate the ridiculousness of her critics.

"It wouldn't change my morals. I've never been in the dorm but I understand the beds are all in cubicles," said Sharon Hatfield, a blonde, 28-year-old divorced mother of twin daughters.

"You have to understand that we are all professional, dedicated people in the fire department. It's all business here."

The Fire Fighters Union has charged the city with discriminating against the men by providing separate sleeping quarters for her during 24 hour shifts.

"This is all to try to get me to resign. I won't resign," she said.

"Ever since I was a little girl I wanted to be a fire fighter and ride on the fire truck. I love the job, being of immediate service to people in need."

"I'm not a fighter. I never thought about discrimination against women before because I always got the jobs I applied for."

She refused help from women's lib groups. "I wanted to do it my way. I wanted them to judge me on my qualifications," but she did not like the way she got the job in a coin flip. She was tied with a man in civil service qualifications. Her education and written tests were superior but she lost points in one phase of the agility test.

"We had to carry a 100 pound bag of grass seed for 100 feet. I couldn't get it up on my shoulder so I carried it like a baby," she said.

Now she works out daily with weights. She took a body control science course in nursing school to aid in lifting and carrying patients and thinks the firemen would find it beneficial.

"I have had no problems with the men," she said, noting that several members of the Fire Fighters Union oppose her. The union complained of separate sleeping quarters for her and special shower times was discriminating against men.

Only two firemen wives have talked to her. "They said I should stay home with my children instead of being a fire fighter. If I did, I'd be on welfare. Besides, nobody complains when a woman works as a legal secretary and her children are taken care of by a baby sitter."

The light side

BLACK EAGLE, Mont. (AP) — A member of the Jim Smock family — "Barney" the cat — was especially thankful this Thanksgiving.

The Smocks had been looking high and low for Barney since he disappeared Halloween night.

Barney, described by Mrs. Smock as a "long-haired alley cat," finally turned up Thanksgiving eve.

He had accidentally been closed in the family camper after a trip on Halloween and had been trapped there for 23 days without food or water, Mrs. Smock said.

But, she said, Barney, "a super-big cat," was declared in good shape by a veterinarian after a checkup.

Barney, an avid camper before the ordeal, apparently has lost his desire to travel.

2 tablespoons butter, soft
2 tablespoons minced parsley
Grated rind of 1 large orange
Salt and pepper to taste

Mix together all the ingredients and heat in a microwave oven in a covered appropriate casserole or heat on the range top in a covered double-boiler top over boiling water. Makes 4 servings.

SNACKTIME FARE

Lemon Loaf Beverage
ELAINE'S LEMON LOAF

A friend improved a previous recipe by adding the nuts.

1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour, fork-stir to aerate before measuring
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter
3/4 cup sugar
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
2 large eggs
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup walnuts, chopped

Topping, see below
Stir together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream the butter, sugar and lemon rind; thoroughly beat in eggs one at a time. Stir in flour mixture in several additions, alternately with milk, just until smooth each time. Fold in the nuts. Turn into a buttered (bottom and sides) 9 by 5 by 3-inch loaf pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — 1 hour. Slowly spoon Topping over hot cake; let stand until it is absorbed except for some sugar crystals — about 10 minutes. Loosen edges and turn out; cool completely.

Topping: Stir together 1/2 cup sugar and 3 tablespoons lemon juice — sugar will not dissolve.

'Interim rules' made

Ohio's high court OKs lawyers' ads

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Attorneys in Ohio will be allowed to advertise both in the print media and on radio and television under a new set of "interim rules" established by the Ohio Supreme Court.

Chief Justice C. William O'Neill said Sunday the rules are being officially released today in the Ohio State Bar Association's weekly magazine, "Ohio Bar."

The court's amendments to its code of professional responsibility go beyond the recommendation of the state bar, which asked that only print media advertising, not radio and television, be allowed.

O'Neill said the court's decision, made following an Oct. 24 hearing on the matter, comes as a result of last June's U.S. Supreme Court decision that lawyers can advertise within certain limits.

"We had rules of ethics that a lawyer could not," the chief justice said. "So in response to that decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, we had to change our rules."

O'Neill said the "interim rules" were made several days ago but their release was held for the bar association magazine until today.

The magazine, which was mailed to attorneys over the Thanksgiving holiday, says the rules were made "in order to facilitate the process of informed selection of a lawyer by potential consumers of legal services."

The rules extensively define print media as including newspapers, magazines and classified telephone directories.

But the court has decided the advertising "shall be presented in a dignified manner without the use of drawings, illustrations, animations, dramatizations, slogans, music, lyrics or the use of pictures, except the use of pictures of the advertising lawyer," the magazine says.

A series of rules has been adopted for lawyers wishing to use broadcast media, the magazine says.

For example, "if the advertisement is communicated over radio or television, it shall be pre-recorded."

Faulty motor eyed in death

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A faulty refrigerator motor was blamed for a fire which killed a 70-year-old Columbus man Saturday.

Dead from smoke inhalation was Lott Glover, who needed a walker to move about. His body was found next to the kitchen door, fire investigators said. His wife, Rachel, 65, at church preparing for Sunday activities when the blaze erupted, said the refrigerator motor had "cut off and on" the day before, but when she contacted a repairman, she was told they would have to wait until Tuesday for help.

Oil stains are stubborn, senator

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Balding, babyfaced Sen. J. Bennett Johnston Jr., D-La., a darling of the oil industry, would like to remove some of the oil stain from his public image.

This may be difficult to pull off for a senator who has consistently protected oil privileges on Capitol Hill. Only last month, he performed a major act of devotion to the oil and gas interests during the energy debate. Now he's afraid he may have too much oil on his face as he prepares to confront the voters next year.

The senator from Shreveport has decided, therefore, to strike a noble, new pose as a champion of the elderly. Accordingly, he dispatched his press secretary, Kirk Melancon, to develop the new image.

Melancon huddled privately with Marcia McCord of the staff of the Senate aging subcommittee. Immodestly, the press agent said it has been his idea to wipe the oil off Johnston's face. "I've told him," said Melancon, "he's got to change his image from all this energy stuff." Melancon felt the "Old people issue" would be an ideal way to do it.

The two aides discussed having Johnston join Sen. Thomas Eagleton, D-Mo., in holding congressional hearings. Urged Melancon eagerly: "We've got to find a good place — a community center, a nursing home or a big nutrition project."

He paused. "Now, it can't be too depressing," he cautioned. Ideally, he said, it should be only moderately depressing.

"We'll have the senators eating lunch with old people," the press aide suggested. "The media loves that."

McCord agreed. "The media will come," she predicted. "Eagleton's attractive. They love to see the senator eating with old people."

Of course, all would be lost if the momentous event wasn't covered on the network news shows. Proposed Melancon: "Now, we'll have the old people talk from 2 to 4 (p.m.). Every one of them will have a story, so we'll have to cut it short. If we go past 4, it's bye-bye to the tube."

Our reporter Julia Keller, after verifying this fascinating conversation, went to the two aides for their comments. She asked McCord whether the senators had scheduled the hearing for publicity. "That's part of it," she admitted.

But Melancon bristled at the suggestion that Johnston was motivated by anything but concern for the elderly. "That's ridiculous!" he hissed. "I'm insulted at the suggestion. I'm not surprised that Jack Anderson would come up with something like this!"

When Keller confronted him with the exact words he had used, his voice softened. "I don't recall saying that." Then he became suddenly angry again, shouting: "I'm insulted! I am insulted!"

Shah's Solicitor: In an earlier column, we reported that the shah of Iran has left President Carter with a shopping list for additional jet fighters, radar planes, military transport planes and patrol boats. He is prepared to spend about $8 million in solid petrodollars for the new weaponry.

He probably will get his dangerous new toys, although his military forces have been unable to absorb all the modern weapons that the United States has already delivered to Iran. Indeed, Iran has received more U.S. military equipment than any other nation. The huge arms shipments and technical aid are helping the shah transform his country into a world power.

The shah's military build-up has upset neighboring Saudi Arabia, whose oil is vital to U.S. security. The Saudis have sought responsibility to hold down world oil prices. In contrast, the shah originally pushed harder than any other oil potentate for stratospheric oil prices.

Yet despite the misgivings of the Saudis and the economic damage the oil squeeze has caused the United States, the policymakers in Washington have courted the shah obsequiously. The shah, in turn, has courted U.S. policymakers. No other embassy throws more dazzling parties for Washington officialdom than does the Iranian embassy.

The shah has also developed in intimate personal relationship with the high and mighty in Washington. We wrote earlier about his close association with ex-CIA chief Richard Helms, who has now opened a consulting firm with an Iranian name.

The shah's relationship with ex-Secretary of State William Rogers is even more curious. At the State Department, he participated in building up the shah. It was Roger's lofty purpose to assure that the fabulous oil fields of the Persian Gulf remain under friendly domination.

But within three months after Rogers resigned as secretary of state, he turned up as a director of the shah's Pahlavi Foundation. He insisted to our associate Joe Spear at the time that there was no conflict of interest. He was merely handling "real estate work" for the foundation, he said.

But six months later, in June 1974, we were tracking down rumors that the shah had funneled money into the Richard Nixon campaign. Suddenly out of the woodwork popped Rogers, who categorically denied the story.

Not only did Rogers call us in behalf of the shah but his law firm sent us a followup telegram, declaring that the firm "had been retained by the embassy of Iran" to communicate with us on the Nixon-Shah of Iran story.

This intervention seemed to be somewhat removed from "real estate." It also raises two questions. Should Rogers have registered under the law as a foreign agent? And did he violate the law prohibiting former government employees for one year from representing corporations or foreign governments that had come under their jurisdiction?

Rail abandonment proposal readied

NELSONVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The 10-mile stretch of railroad track between Logan and Nelsonville will be the subject of an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing Wednesday at Hocking Technical College here.

The Chessie System wants to abandon the track, which is used by only one major shipper, a brick manufacturing operation in Diamond. It serves Haydenville, Diamond and Nelsonville in Hocking and Athens counties.

The track is the sole link between the Hocking Valley Scenic Railway at Nelsonville and the rest of the state's rail network. The railway uses steampowered locomotives to haul tourists along portion of the Hocking River.

The Cleveland-based Chessie first asked the ICC to allow them to drop the route in March 1975, and the ICC ruled in June that abandonment would not present a major problem. After accepting written comments from the public, the ICC ruled in September that the abandonment should be permitted.

Wednesday's hearing is one of the final opportunities for public input on the ICC decision. Presiding will be Paul J. Clerman, ICC administrative law judge.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — For three years, Donna Mills was in a soap opera, "Love is a Many Splendored Thing." As Mrs. Laura Elliott, she says, she suffered a lot, as is the custom in soap operadom.

Her husband dallied with an older woman. She got pregnant, but lost the baby. She ran off with a merchant seaman. She lost her memory. She stole her sister's baby. She also had a bad car accident.

It was at this point, smiled Miss Mills, an attractive, blonde-haired, blue-eyed native of Chicago, "I had to leave. I couldn't take it any more." But tonight she resumes her suffering.

This time, it is as a Los Angeles police detective on the run in a two-hour NBC movie, "The Hunted Lady." The show, which she hopes will become a series, was produced by Quinn Martin.

Martin is the chap who in 1963 began "The Fugitive," in which David Janssen played a doctor on the lam. Tonight's effort may seem just warmed-over lam, but Miss Mills says there are differences.

Her fugitive character is not just running from the law (she was framed by the mob after she investigated a politician the mob secretly owned). She also is being chased by a mob hit man, whose marching orders are: "Find her, silence her."

But the big difference, she says, is an obvious one, "the difference between a man running and a woman running, a woman alone on the road, trying to get jobs and coping with living alone."

In the show's grand finale, she added, she'll still be on the run, which would set the stage for a series if NBC says keep running.

If such happens, it wouldn't be her first prime time series.

A few years ago, after playing Clint Eastwood's old flame in "Play Misty For Me," she co-starred in a short-lived comedy, "The Good Life."

"It was fun while it lasted, but after that I got offered every comedy pilot in the world," she said. "But I turned them all down because I didn't want to get typed as a comedy actress."

"But then," she grinned, "I started doing a lot of 'victim' roles for some reason." She had reference to TV movies involving a damsel, her, in dire distress.

After this, she said, "I started being more selective and went for a wide variety of roles, even as a killer."

Miss Mills, soft-spoken and pleasant in manner, has logged 20 credits in as many TV movies since "The Good Life" expired. In fact, she just finished one, a Super Bowl thriller for ABC.

By coincidence, David Janssen, the first "Fugitive," was in it.

"I'd never met him before," she said. "I told him I was doing a pilot, a 'Fugitive' kind of thing, and we talked a lot about it. He thought it was a terrific idea, a good premise for a series."

Janssen has said he'd never return to the grind of a weekly series. Perchance he counseled against such to Miss Mills?

"No, no," she said. "He said — well, the only tip he gave me was, 'Just make sure you have good scripts.'"

Mobile home fire kills young girl

WEST MANCHESTER, Ohio (AP) — A mobile home fire took the life of a five-month-old girl Saturday, despite her father's efforts to save her from the flames.

The father, James Glenn, 25, said he smelled smoke and detected the blaze in a corner of the 55-foot mobile home. Investigators are still trying to determine the origin.

"I got my (3-year-old) son out, but I couldn't get back to her," said Glenn.

Denen resets rebound record

Blue Lions open season with 57-53 Gallipolis win

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio — The Washington C.H. Blue Lions opened their basketball season on the right foot as they handed Gallipolis a 57-53 setback at the Blue Devils gym.

"We have a long way to go," stated ninth-year coach Gary Shaffer as he watched his inexperienced club hold onto win. "We'll never win our league playing that way. We didn't show much intensity running the offense and we need work on helping out on defense."

Shaffer also mentioned that the team "needs work on our free throws."

As expected senior star John Denen was the big story. Denen tallied 19 points and vanked down a school record 22 rebounds. The 6-foot-4 center broke his own record of 21, set last year.

Tom Bath's debut as a varsity starter was a smashing success as he fired in 15 counters to back up Denen's total. The 5-10 backcourt wizard also collected seven rebounds along with carrying the bulk of the ball-handling chores.

The Lions landed a third player in double figures in the person of high-leaping Terry Wilson who pumped in 10 counters and chipped in with seven rebounds.

Steve Pritchett and Donald Justice combined for 13 points and 11 rebounds in their first varsity starts.

The Blue Devils opened the scoring but it was answered by two jumpers by Denen. Gallipolis later built a lead to 12-10 before Denen, Bath and Pritchett put the Lions ahead 16-12 at the end of the first quarter.

The Lions outscored the Devils 16-11 in the second quarter as Denen once again had the hot hand, scoring eight points. The Blue Lions forged ahead by 12 points at one time in the quarter when Denen hit Pritchett with a perfect pass for an easy layup to make the score 30-18 with only 2:00 remaining.

Before halftime, the Devils came back to cut the lead to 32-23. By intermission, Denen had already scored 14 points and pulled down 12 boards.

The third stanza almost proved to be the Lions' undoing as they could muster only seven points. Denen, who was hot in the first half, was held to a single free throw in the third quarter.

Court House held a 37-29 lead midway through the period, but after that the Devils reeled off eight unanswered points to tie the score at 37-37. The period ended in a 39-39 tie with the Devils controlling the momentum.

Gallipolis took the lead for the first time since they held it 2-0 when they made it 41-39 to open the fourth quarter. But, Bath provided some heroics as he scored two quick baskets on a layup and a stolen inbounds pass.

Due to an assignment mixup, the Record-Herald regrets that no photographer was in attendance at the Washington C.H.-Gallipolis basketball game in Gallipolis.

Justice and Pritchett scored two each to pad the Lion lead to 49-41 but the Devils didn't roll over and play dead. They fought back to within two at 53-51 with 2:03 remaining in the game.

Denen hit two clutch free throws to give the Lions a 55-51 lead but the Devils' came right back on Jeff Lanham's 20-footer to cut the lead to two again.

The Lions displayed some poise as they went into a four-corner offense and held the ball for 45 seconds until Bath was fouled with :09 showing on the clock.

The Washington C.H. guard converted on one of the two attempts to assure the Lions their opening game victory. Pritchett added a free throw for good measure to make the final score 57-53.

Denen was bottled up in the scoring department as he collected just five points — all on free throws — in the second half. However, he was more than effective on the boards pulling down his record number of rebounds.

Bath displayed his talents and put to rest any Lion fans' worries for a reliable starting guard. He and the other inexperienced Lions showed their poise by not folding under the heavy, early season pressure.

The Lions shot just 33 percent for the field but showed excellent scoring balance in the contest. They also connected on 17 free throws, more than they have had in a single game in quite some time.

Washington C.H. will entertain the Circleville Tigers next Tuesday night at WSHS as the Lions play their initial SCOL contest of the season. Game time for the reserve match-up will be 6:30 p.m.

The Washington C.H. Blue Lion reserves started the season on a sour note as they were pasted by a tough Gallipolis jayvee squad, 40-25.

The Blue Devils were led in scoring by 5-foot-10 guard Nick Robinson who tallied 16 points to take the game-high honors.

Rookie reserve coach Don Gibbs' cagers were paced by Dave Cassidy who scored 12 points. Clark Lee followed Cassidy with seven tallies.

Baltimore learns Orange Crush is the real thing

By The Associated Press

Ted Marchibroda and the Baltimore Colts are the latest to learn what is becoming gospel around the National Football League: the Denver Broncos are for real.

The Broncos jumped to a 14-0 half-time lead over Baltimore in Sunday's battle of division leaders, saw the Colts close to within 14-13, then turned them back with two fourth-quarter touchdowns in posting a 27-13 victory.

"You have to give Denver credit," said Marchibroda, impressed by the offense led by surprising Craig Morton and the rugged Orange Crush defense. "This was probably the biggest game they've been in, and they played almost errorless football."

The Broncos now are 10-1, the best record in the league. They lead defending Super Bowl champion Oakland by 1½ games in the American Football Conference's West Division.

Denver is a newcomer to the ranks of the NFL's elite, but four more familiar names — Dallas, Pittsburgh, Minnesota and Los Angeles — strengthened their playoff chances with victories Sunday.

The Dallas Cowboys, 9-2, took a commanding two-game lead over St. Louis in the National Football Conference's Eastern Division by edging arch-rival Washington 14-7 on a fourth-quarter touchdown by rookie Tony Dorsett. The Redskins now are three games back at 6-5, but have a slim chance at the NFC wild-card playoff berth.

The Pittsburgh Steelers, 7-4, took over sole possession of first place in the AFC Central, beating the New York Jets 23-20 as Terry Bradshaw threw two touchdown passes and the Steelers picked off five Jets aeriels. The other three teams in the division, Cincinnati, Cleveland and Houston, are tied for second place at 6-5 in the league's closest divisional race.

The Minnesota Vikings got back on the winning track with a 13-6 triumph over Green Bay as Chuck Foreman ran through the snow for 101 yards. That put the Vikings, 7-4, one game ahead of Chicago in the NFC Central.

And the Los Angeles Rams stayed two games ahead of Atlanta in the NFC West, blanking the Cleveland Browns 9-0 in another game played in snow. It was only the fifth time the Browns have been blanked in 367 regular-season games.

Elsewhere in the NFL Sunday, the Cincinnati Bengals beat the New York Giants 30-13, the Houston Oilers defeated the Kansas City Chiefs 34-20, the Atlanta Falcons blanked the Tampa Bay Buccaneers 17-0, the New England Patriots topped the Philadelphia Eagles 14-6, the San Diego Chargers trimmed the Seattle Seahawks 30-28 and the San Francisco 49ers edged the New Orleans Saints 20-17.

Chicago beat Detroit 31-14 and Miami walloped St. Louis 55-14 Thursday.

Buffalo plays at Oakland tonight in a game which the Raiders, 8-2, must win to stay within striking distance of Denver in the AFC West and remain the front-runner for the AFC wild card.

Morton staked the Broncos to their early lead with touchdown passes of 41 yards to Rick Upchurch and 19 to Jack Dolbin. Baltimore came back in the second half for a touchdown and two field goals behind the crisp, short passing of Bert Jones.

But Jones, who completed 11 passes to Don McCauley and nine to Lydell Mitchell, both running backs, suffered a critical interception in the final period.

With 7:20 to go in the game, he tried to dump a pass to McCauley in the flat. But Denver linebacker Tom Jackson stepped in front of McCauley, picked off the ball and dashed 73 yards for the clinching touchdown. Morton ran six yards for an insurance score with 1:14 left, but Jackson's TD was what tamed the Colts.

Cowboys 14, Redskins 7

With the score tied 7-7 in the fourth period, Dallas had the ball on the Redskins' two-yard line with fourth down and one yard needed for a first down.

"My first inclination was to go for the field goal," said Cowboys Coach Tom Landry. "I just felt like that when you get in there, you ought not come out without any points."

Landry changed his mind, however, and Roger Staubach sneaked over for a first down. On the next play, Dorsett hurdled the line for the game-winning score.

defensive back Ray Griffin.

Donahue was the only unanimous choice on offense while Brown and Larry Bethae of Michigan State were unanimous choices on defense by the panel of 12 sportswriters and broadcasters selecting the team.

Kevin Pancratz of Illinois and Mike Kenn of Michigan joined Ward and Donahue on the offensive line with Paul Rogind of Minnesota selected as the place kicker.

Joining Bethae and Brown in the front five on defense were Kellon Danster of Ohio State, Steve Midboe of Minnesota and Dennis Stejskal of Wisconsin.

Steelers 23, Jets 20

Bradshaw completed scoring strikes of 37 yards to John Stallworth and five yards to Lynn Swann, and Franco Harris ran 1 yard for a Pittsburgh touchdown, but Roy Gerela's 37-yard field goal with 5:58 to play proved to be the winning margin.

Harris gained 83 yards and became only the third player in NFL history to pile up over 6,000 yards in his first six seasons, joining Jimmy Brown and O.J. Simpson.

Vikings 13, Packers 6

Chuck Foreman rushed for 101 yards and Bob Lee hooked up with Sammy White for a 40-yard scoring strike through the snow as Minnesota beat Green Bay.

Rams 9, Browns 0

Pat Haden completed 20 of 29 passes for 172 yards for Los Angeles while Lawrence McCutcheon and John Cappelletti led a solid ground game. Cappelletti's seven-yard touchdown run and Rafael Septien's 18-yard field goal were the only scores, but it was Los Angeles' defense which dominated the game.

Bengals 30, Giants 13

The Bengals beat the Giants by beating the weather. Ken Anderson fired three first-half touchdown passes, including a 58-yard bomb to wide receiver Billy Brooks on Cincinnati's first play from scrimmage, before the snow came.

Oilers 34, Chiefs 20

Houston built a 34-6 lead as Dan Pastorini threw three touchdown passes, including two to Ken Burrough, then coasted past Kansas City. Rob Carpenter rushed for 149 yards and Ronnie Coleman for 101 for the Oilers, while Tim Wilson scored on a pair of one-yard runs.

Falcons 17, Buccaneers 0

"It's back to the practice field on Monday," said Tampa Bay Coach John McKay, whose club now is 0-25 over two years after its fifth shutout of the season.

Haskel Stanback scored both Atlanta touchdowns on one-yard plunges. The Falcons have given up just 83 points in 11 games and have a shot at the record for fewest points allowed in a 14-game season, 133 by Minnesota in 1969.

Patriots 14, Eagles 6

Steve Grogan passed for two touchdowns in the first half and the New England defense made them stand up, sacking Philadelphia quarterback Ron Jaworski eight times.

Chargers 30, Seahawks 28

Dan Fouts, who rejoined San Diego last week after a 125-day holdout, found Charlie Joiner with a 17-yard touchdown pass and defensive end Fred Dean raced 22 yards with an interception for another fourth-quarter score, leading the Chargers over Seattle.

Fouts completed 19 of 26 passes for 199 yards in his season debut.

19ers 20, Saints 17

Ray Wersching's 42-yard field goal as time ran out provided the winning points for the 49ers, who got 190 yards rushing from Wilbur Jackson.

Large Mahan Building crowd honors Panther football squad

By MARK REA

Record-Herald Sports Editor

The football stars of the 1977 Miami Trace freshman, reserve and varsity teams were honored yesterday evening at the annual banquet held in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

Following the invocation by Rev. Victor Slutz of the New Holland Church of Christ, Paul Hennessy, president of the Miami Trace Athletic Boosters, opened the program with introductions. Following remarks from Miami Trace principal Curtis Fleisher, Ohio State head coach Woody Hayes made his way to the rostrum.

Hayes spoke at length comparing Miami Trace's football program with his own at Ohio State. He also expounded on the fact that sports, along with good parental guidance and an education, are the keys to success in life.

Hayes stated, "Fred Zechman has spoiled this community. A lot of people would like to have him and start the kind of program he has started here. I think everyone can be proud of him and his teams' accomplishments."

Following Hayes' address, the accomplishments were honored beginning with the cheerleaders. They awarded each of the 15 varsity seniors a scrapbook containing memories of the season.

Gary Spears, coach of the freshman football team, honored his squad with letters. The freshman posted a 6-2 record this season, losing only to Circleville and West Jefferson.

Following the freshman awards, the reserve and varsity teams were honored by individual coaches. The two teams posted a combined record of 18-0 this season.

Head coach Fred Zechman began the awards followed by assistant coaches Dick Hill, Bill Beatty, Doug James and Terry Enochs.

Hurricane loses season opener

Gary Williams was the game's leading scorer with 17 points followed by David Nared with 14 and Scott Sizer with nine. But, after that trio, the rest of the team could manage only five among them.

The Buccaneers were led by 6-foot-7

Forced retirement theory is doubted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — You can expect to be middleaged for 40 to 45 years, says an Ohio State University professor who thinks it's wasteful to force people aged 50 to 70 to retire before they are ready.

Dr. Joanne Stevenson, an associate professor of nursing, said those last 20 years are the better half of "mid-"descendence" which starts at about age 30.

"This (50 to 70) is the command generation," she said in her recent publication "Issues and Crises during Middlecence."

"Practically all people in decision-making positions come from this group — 'the new middle age.' They are the leaders of the world and the most secure financially."

Although some middle-agers experience physical decline, they continue to grow emotionally and intellectually well into their 70s, she said.

"Middle-agers shouldn't be considered elderly until this time. From my observations there is a transition and some kind of deterioration between 70 and 80, but rarely before that," she says. "Why make a vital person retire at 62 or 65?"

Marriage is also better. "Couples become more intimate and value each other more. The most important friendships are reported between spouses," she said.

She confirmed the theory that people are as young as they feel.

"I used to believe at some point I'd be an adult — a finished, complete person — but you never really get there. We continue to grow in spite of all the sociocultural pressures against growth," she said.

She said people can expect to be middle-aged for 40 to 45 years. "Men and women are living longer ... This doesn't mean we have a longer time to be elderly, but a longer middle age," Dr. Stevenson said.

The first 20 years of middle age (30 to 50) are often more turbulent than the last 20, which Dr. Stevenson described as "solid gold."

"The 40s are especially tumultuous," she said. "You're trying to be responsible for everyone including yourself, your teen-age children and your aging parents."

"Maladaptation for middleagers results in divorce, depression to psychiatric proportions, alcoholism, obesity and drug dependence. This is the time when many people ask, 'Am I as successful as I want to be?'"

Survivors of the "mid-40s inferno" will find the next two decades "solid gold," Dr. Stevenson said.

Science programs receive applause

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Science education programs at nine Ohio high schools and two junior high schools have been cited as outstanding by the Ohio Academy of Science.

Sponsored by the academy and the Battelle Memorial Institute in Columbus, the awards were based on quality of teachers, programs and facilities.

The junior high schools honored were Marietta and Chillicothe Mount Logan junior high schools.

The high schools named for the 1976-77 awards were: Bryan, Uniontown Lake, Mansfield, Toledo, McAuley, Newark Catholic, Cincinnati Northwest, Willoughby South, West Liberty-Salem and Westerville South.

The schools will receive $250 cash awards from Battelle to further improve their programs.

Deadline slated for candidates

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Political committees, parties and candidates have until Nov. 30 to report contributions and expenditures made through Oct. 31 for elections to take place in 1978.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said county office seekers are required to file the reports at local election boards.

Young hopes for peace

CLEVELAND (AP) — U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young says he is hopeful for peace in the Mideast and credits divine guidance for Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's recent mission to Israel.

Delivering the sermon Sunday at Olivet Institutional Baptist Church, Young said he "told my Arab brothers that the Lord got hold of Anwar Sadat and he went to Jerusalem last week as a messenger of peace."

He called Sadat's visit to Israel "a breakthrough in consciousness" and said that soon "the lamb will lay down with the lion" as peace comes to the Mideast.

When persons learn to love and respect each other, Young said, peace will come to blacks and whites in South Africa, to Northern Ireland and to the Middle East.

In his hour-long sermon, Young admonished the predominantly black congregation to remember how far they have come in their struggle for justice and equality.

He recalled previous visits he made to Cleveland with the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., saying they sought to make this city an example of a northern urban area where blacks could achieve justice and liberation.

The one-time civil rights activist recalled that 20 years ago when he and Dr. King talked about racism in the South, it would get a brief mention deep inside the local paper.

New sporting goods store set to open here on Dec. 5

A new sporting goods store will be opened in downtown Washington C.H. next month by a West Jefferson firm.

The firm, Satch's Sporting Supplies, Inc., will open at sporting goods store at 221 E. Court St. in a building leased from Paul Crosby of Washington C.H.

The store will be owned by the West Jefferson-based firm. The partners in the firm are National League baseball umpire Satch Davidson, James Kramer of Washington C.H., Ron Ramsey and George Lohr.

The four men own and operate Satch's Sporting Supplies, Inc. in West Jefferson.

The local store, containing 1,100 square feet of showroom space plus a full basement, will open Dec. 5. The store will carry a complete line of all major brands of athletic equipment and sporting goods products. No hunting equipment will be handled.

Kramer, 729 Washington Ave., and Ramsey, a former Clarksburg resident, will operate the Washington C.H. store from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday.

The West Jefferson store, opened last year, will be operated by Lohr with off-season assistance from Davidson, a National League umpire for the past nine years.

Kramer, presently athletic director at East Clinton High School in Lees Creek, Ohio, has resided in the Washington C.H. area for the past seven years. He served as head basketball coach at East Clinton from 1971 to 1974.

Ramsey, who has spent nine years in the sporting goods business, had operated the firm's West Jefferson store for the past year. He plans to move to Lakewood Hills from his home in Westerville.

Opening lead - six of hearts.

A hand reported by the distinguished French expert, Jose Le Dentu, in the British Bridge World Magazine, has exceptional dramatic interest. Le Dentu weaves a fascinating tale where he has three world-renowned players each arriving at six hearts (!) on the deal shown. He then describes how each of them approached the play from an entirely different perspective — all three surprisingly bringing the hand to a successful conclusion.

The first declarer in this imaginary deal is Terence Reese, noted British expert. After elevating himself to a slam where a spade lead and spade return would quickly extinguish all chances of making the contract, Reese wins the trump lead in dummy and plays the A-Q of clubs, on which he discards the nine of diamonds!

The purpose of the extraordinary diamond discard is to try to persuade West, if he has the king of clubs, that declarer is weak in diamonds and is trying to dispose of his diamonds on dummy's clubs by leading the club queen through East's presumed king.

West wins the club with the king and, since he finds it impossible to credit East with the ace of spades, plays the queen of diamonds at trick four, hoping to find East with the ace. As a result, declarer makes the slam. He takes the diamond queen with the ace, leads two more rounds of trumps ending in dummy, and discards the Q-8-4 of spades on the J-10 of clubs and king of diamonds.

Tomorrow we shall see how Karl Schneider, well-known Austrian expert, stole the slam in an altogether different way. Don't miss it.

Anorexia Needs Expert Attention

The younger of our two daughters is 19. She and her sister don't get on well with each other. About three weeks ago she suddenly stopped eating. There is no way that we can tempt her with any food. We took her to the doctor who says she has "anorexia." To us it is a fancy name for being a spoiled brat. Do you think she's doing this just to gain attention? — Mrs. T.G., Pa.

Dear Mrs. G.:

Anorexia nervosa is a complicated physical and emotional disease that needs urgent treatment. An aversion to food may become so marked that severe emaciation, loss of weight and enormous fatigue may continue until there is an actual threat to the patient's life.

Typically, this illness occurs in females, in late adolescence and young adulthood.

The fact that you suspect that she is a "spoiled brat" may be one of the deterrents to her getting well. Anyone with anorexia nervosa must not be made to feel guilty or to be criticized for their inability to eat. Rather, the key to recovery from this illness (and it is a very real illness) is understanding, sympathetic attention to the patient's emotions, and more especially, expert guidance by a combination of doctor and psychiatrist.

You will find that it is impossible for you or any member of your family to explore the deep recesses of your daughter's mind and identify the emotional turmoil that is responsible for her present condition.

If ever any medical condition deserves expert psychological guidance, it is this one. So complex, in fact, is this disorder that special departments in a few key hospitals devote themselves exclusively to it.

For some strange reason, once the diagnosis is made, anorexia nervosa is not discussed by parents and family. They tend to keep this condition "under wraps," feeling that it is a family problem too private to discuss.

Recently I learned of an organization called the Anorexic Aid Society. Their address is Box 29461, Columbus, Ohio 43229. This organization was created to bring anorexia out into the open and to encourage patients and their families and friends to learn more about its causes, its treatment and the hope for recovery.

Appeal eyed in case of Cincy chief

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hamilton County prosecutors indicated they will go to the Ohio Supreme Court if the court of appeals refuses to reconsider its exoneration of former Cincinnati Police Chief Carl Goodin.

Fred Cartolano, chief assistant prosecutor, said Friday Ohio's Constitution requires a unanimous verdict from the appeals court for a defendant to be discharged for "insufficient evidence."

Goodin was convicted June 25, 1976 of perjury and evidence-tampering charges. The Ohio 1st District Court of Appeals, by a 2-1 vote, reversed the conviction Wednesday and discharged Goodin as a defendant.

Cartolano said the prosecutor's office will go to the Ohio Supreme Court if the appeals court refuses to overturn its own decision.

"We feel the act ... was an illegal act," Cartolano said. Cartolano charged that Ohio law requires a unanimous opinion of three appeals judges for a conviction by a jury to be reversed. The appeals court unanimously agreed that Hamilton County Prosecutor Simon Leis Jr. made improper remarks during his summation. But the panel was divided on the dismissal. Judge George Palmer said he felt the evidence was sufficient to convict.

Goodin was charged with lying about a special police fund and conspiring to produce falsified accounting sheets to back up his claims.

The appeals court, in its ruling, was critical of the prosecutor's office, saying: "What evidence there is of Goodin's knowledge of the falsity of the record is entirely circumstantial."

Goodin was among 10 persons, including seven police officers, indicted in December 1975 by a special grand jury investigating alleged police wrongdoing.

It was considered Cincinnati's worst police scandal since the 1940s.

Goodin, who served 4½ years as police chief, faced a prison term of four months and fines totalling $5,000 for the convictions.

Only minor injuries reported

Slippery roads blamed in area accidents

A Milford man escaped with minor injuries in a severe collision on I-71 just south of mile marker No. 75 near Jeffersonville Sunday.

Harold C. Simon, 60, of Milford, was injured when his car slid off the left roadside, struck a guardrail and slid into the path of an oncoming car, according to Fayette County sheriff's deputies. Simon was not treated at the time of the accident.

Sheriff's deputies stated Simon's car began to fishtail causing it to slide off the left side where it struck a guardrail. The impact knocked the vehicle back onto I-71 into the path of another car, driven by Paul E. Nolte, 19, of Wilmington.

The 3:15 p.m. crash demolished Nolte's car and caused severe damages to Simon's vehicle, according to the sheriff's department report.

Sheriff's deputies reported a Cleveland man, 26-year-old Ned A. Goldberg, claimed he was injured following another collision on I-71 just north of Ohio 41 Sunday. However, Goldberg was not treated.

He had been northbound on I-71 and had pulled off the highway and stopped on the right berm about 1:30 p.m. when a jeep pulled off the road and rear-ended his car causing moderate damage.

The other driver, Patrick G. Mueller, 23, of Akron, told investigating deputies he had pulled off to clear his windshield. Mueller's jeep was only slightly damaged.

Washington C.H. police officers reported Atlanta resident Sharon M. Martin, 19, was injured after his car was rear-ended late Friday at the intersection of Clinton and Oakland avenues.

A Fayette County Life Squad unit transported Ms. Martin to Fayette County Memorial Hospital where she was reportedly treated and released. She was a passenger in a car driven by Stephen L. Martin, 28, also of Atlanta.

Their car was rear-ended while eastbound on Clinton Avenue around 11:17 p.m. The other driver, David D. Shaffer, 27, 1207 Willard St., told police the icy pavement prevented him from stopping in time.

Police officers cited Shaffer for failure to maintain an assured clear distance.

A local woman, 43-year-old Violet I. Everhart, 615 N. Oakland Ave., suffered a minor injury Saturday when her car was struck in the rear by another vehicle on N. North Street near Gibbs Avenue.

She was taken to Fayette Memorial by a county life squad unit and treated for a back strain. She was later released.

Police officers cited Sandra M. Harris, 18, of 825 Sycamore St., following the 1:27 p.m. collision. She told police officers she didn't notice Ms. Everhart's car until it was too late to stop. She also said she didn't see a left turn signal on the Everhart car until after she got out to check on the driver.

Area law enforcement agencies reported several other non-injury traffic accidents over the weekend:

POLICE
SATURDAY—A hitskip driver struck a car belonging to William E. Seymour of 940 Gregg St. sometime after 2 a.m. while the car was parked in front of his home.

A citation is pending following a collision about 11:16 a.m. on McKinley Avenue near Clinton Avenue. Ralph D. Warner, 50, 800 McLean St., struck another car, driven by Norman E. Underwood, 44, of 923 Clinton Ave., when it pulled onto McKinley Avenue from an alley. Both cars sustained slight damages.

Police officers cited Fred Robinette, 78, 1403 Dennis St., for an improper lane change after he struck a car around 3:59 p.m. on Court Street near Main Street. The other driver was David W. Feck, 28, of Blanchester. Robinette reportedly stated he didn't see Feck's car when he tried to pull into the inside lane along the 100 block of Court Street.

Two cars backed into each other in Ev's Fine Foods store parking lot, 1151 Columbus Ave., about 5:55 p.m. causing slight damage to both vehicles. The drivers were Pearl W. Sutton, 22, 678 Robinson Road, and Clara B. Allen, 57, of Bloomingburg.

SUNDAY—Helen M. Walton, 55, of Jeffersonville, backed up from a fuel pump at the Bonded Oil service station on N. North Street and struck a car, driven by 77-year-old William M. Peacock, 1311 Grace St. The accident occurred about 1:10 p.m.

A car belonging to Deborah K. Havens, 22, of 903 1/2 Briar Ave., ran into the drive-in teller's cage at the Fayette County Bank, 1 Fayette Center, around 3:45 p.m. Mrs. Havens had stepped out of her car and left the motor running. Her 1-year-old daughter put the vehicle in gear and it struck the small building.

Howard M. Johnson, 17, 816 Broadway St., backed into a parked car in the Pizza Hut parking lot, 409 S. Elm St., causing minor damages to both vehicles about 9:30 p.m. The parked car belonged to Francis Seyfang of 3069 Snow Hill Road.

SHERIFF

SATURDAY—Three cars were involved in a crash on W. High Street near Main Street in Jeffersonville around 9:10 a.m. A parked car belonging to Frederick W. Spears, 52, of Jeffersonville, reportedly rolled across High Street and struck another parked car belonging to Steven E. Cline, 22, also of Jeffersonville. The impact shoved Cline's vehicle into a third parked car, belonging to Steven D. Rogers, 22, of 113 1/2 W. Paint St.

SUNDAY—Helen J. McHolan, 40, of 1612 Barbara Lane, lost control of her car on the ice covered while northbound on U.S. 62 about a mile northeast of Washington C.H. and slid off the left roadside striking a board fence. The crash occurred about 1:30 p.m. at the Fair Chance Farm, 2539 U.S. 62-NE.

Fairfield resident Maria Socorro Busonik, 26, lost control of her car on I-71 about a half-mile north of U.S. 35 about 2:45 p.m. and slid into the path of an oncoming car, driven by Gary W. Collier, 20, of Fort Thomas, Ky. Ms. Busonik's car was severely damaged.

Sheriff's deputies reported 16-year-old Michael A. Hughes, 660 Leslie Trace Court, was unable to stop and collided with a pick-up truck around 3 p.m. on Ohio 41-N at Earl Avenue. The other driver, James A. Elzey, 16, of Bloomingburg, had started a left turn onto Earl Avenue when his truck slid off the southeast corner of the intersection into the path of Hughes northbound car. Both vehicles were moderately damaged.

In a crash about 4:45 p.m., Errol L. Postlewait, 35, of Dayton, lost control of his car while westbound on U.S. 35 one and a half miles east of the Ross-Fayette county line and slid across the snow covered highway striking a utility pole off the left side. The crash resulted in moderate damage to the vehicle.

Flynt says he'll still make money with porn magazines

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The born-again publisher of Hustler magazine says he's still going to make money with his porn publication despite his renewed religious commitment.

"People who think I'm not going to make money with Hustler don't know how far off they are," said Larry Flynt, 41, who reportedly made $20 million profit last year from Hustler and Chic and Leisure Time sex aids.

"With Hustler before, we turned a lot of people off," Flynt said. "What we want to do now is turn everybody on, rather than turn people off."

Flynt promised to look at sex in a different light after his Christian faith was restored by Ruth Carter Stapleton, President Carter's sister.

"I'm a Christian, I'm not religious," Flynt said. "It's between me and the man upstairs. I'm not going to join any organized religion."

He said several congregations have asked him to join since the announcement Nov. 19 of his new sentiments.

Flynt said Hustler's sexually explicit contents are not going to be phased out, but he refuses to specify changes he has in mind, except that the cartoon character "Chester the Molester" featured monthly may be changed to "Chester the Protector."

"Everybody expects pictures of the crucifix on the cover of Hustler, with some version of the scripture printed inside," Flynt said.

"What is wrong with a sense of humor? What is wrong with promoting healthy attitudes toward sex, or understanding social problems a little bit better? What is wrong with an article on religion as long as it does not have die-hard, fundamentalist overtones where we are being judgmental and condemning people?"
